Microsoft selects TECHSYS Business Solutions as ALM Inner Circle Partner

Frisco, TX - January 1, 2007 - Microsoft has named TECHSYS Business Solutions, a Microsoft Gold Certified Partner, to its Inner Circle Partner program for Application Lifecycle Management (ALM).

TECHSYS Business Solutions (TECHSYS) inclusion in this program is based on a over twenty year history of developing successful enterprise applications using extensive knowledge and expertise of ALM. Membership in the elite Microsoft Inner Circle group recognizes outstanding partners like TECHSYS, whose commitment to its clients is shown through dedication in achieving customer satisfaction by delivering innovative technology solutions to help solve complex business problems, reduce costs and implement process improvements.

“By working closely with Microsoft, TECHSYS will be able to provide increased value to our clients through the Inner Circle Program” says TECHSYS Client Services Director Susan Tidwell. “We have chosen to use Microsoft’s Visual Studio Team System for implementation of ALM on our software projects both internally and externally, exposing full status of projects to our clients through use of the tool.”

With a proven successful track record, TECHSYS services enable businesses to better manage the application life cycle of software development projects; increasing team collaboration and productivity while improving overall software quality.

As a Microsoft ALM Inner Circle partner, TECHSYS will provide onsite demonstrations of VSTS/TFS, designed to provide an overview of capabilities and features. For organizations ready to implement VSTS/TFS, TECHSYS will also provide onsite assessments to help identify targeted areas for improvements and provide recommendations for defining approach, methodology and best practices. TECHSYS also makes full use of the Microsoft Technology Center in the Las Colinas, TX office to provide VSTS/TFS events, implementation strategy and planning sessions, and proof of concept engagements.
